

Why choose CenturyLink?

With CenturyLink, you have a partner you can trust.

Small businesses across the country rely on our advanced network and dedicated employees to help them succeed. Established in 1930, CenturyLink is a Fortune 150 company and the third-largest telecommunications provider in the United States. Through our advanced fiber-optic network, we offer an unparalleled range of services, from data, voice and cloud computing. And by partnering with DIRECTV® and Verizon Wireless, we can offer you even more ways to entertain and stay in touch with customers.

Community focused.

At CenturyLink, we take pride in understanding the needs of our customers. We have senior-level employees living in the communities we serve. We're more than just a partner, we're a neighbor.

Here's what we can offer your business.

Stability.

As a Fortune 150 company, we have the expertise and financial stability to bring you the latest technology and capabilities. Best of all, you have the confidence of working with a partner that's been serving businesses from day one.

A reliable network.

We're constantly investing in our fiber-based network to provide our customers with access to speeds up to 1 Gbps. And we're there to back you up with technical support 7 days a week, 365 days a year.

Cloud capabilities.

Our best-in-class network and Internet connectivity give you access to a complete range of cloud-based services like Microsoft email, anti-virus programs, virtual servers, storage, website hosting, online data backup and more.

Local service.

We're right around the block, not across the country. Not only is our senior leadership located right in the markets we serve, but our locally based experts know that by helping your business, they're building their own communities.

Tailored solutions.

Because we own miles of fiber connecting multiple data centers across the globe, we can provide things other carriers can't: scalable solutions that don't require massive upfront equipment, software or personnel investment. Plus, they're managed for you and available as you need them, offering you the flexibility to add employees for your busy season, add servers to support e-commerce growth, secure customer information and more.
